

Wild Geraniums

May 2014, John T. McMahan III

Here on the fringe of forever meadows and woods sing of delicious cutting swelter and nomadic natives sipping rain.

Multiflora roses rejuvenate and race to cover cautious sprouting seedlings as, Wild Geraniums romantically radiate within their beautiful borderland tangle.

This timorous fringe reveals a token mysterious grace of wayward yet winsome reunions in the sprightly hands of May.

Those pink, passionate stars they spark the rousing revelation of you.